SEASON OF BLISS

There is an enchanting beauty in not knowing something; the beauty of the uncertainty; the curiosity for tomorrows and what the next day and year holds. Lulu has always managed to fill the voids of this uncertainty with certainly beautiful events and offerings. 2018 has been a fascinating year at Lulu this far.

After celebrating its glorious 5th anniversary in March, the mall has been bustling with activity and preparing for a host of upcoming events. Kids made a beeline to Lulu to beat the heat and have some fun as a part of the annual Lulu Summer Camp. Through Sparky's Little Star, we were able to identify talent from across the state, culminating in a grand finale which witnessed astounding performances by the top 15, selected from an endless pool of gifted children. The much-awaited Lulu Fashion Week witnessed inspiring trends and season collections along with a fabulous mix of celebrities and show stoppers. An event to look forward to is the Lulu Reader's Fest which will bring together the best story tellers, puppeteers, theatre artists, clowns and more from across the country for specially curated kids workshops set alongside a reading corner for any booklover to enjoy and buy from.

Now, we are at that time of the year where the soul is filled and the mind is cleansed. "Ramadan is a month whose beginning is mercy, whose middle is forgiveness and whose end is freedom from the fire"- The prophet. Lulu makes this special season all the more special with an Iftar festival, a month long cooking contest and mesmerising international performances during the eid week to experience with your family and friends. We promise a never seen before sale season and Lulu Shopping Festival post that to satisfy all the eager shoppers of Kerala.

In the past months, we have told you about Lulu Group's long dream of taking organised retail to tier 2 cities and smaller towns. We have just announced our way back to Calicut with a 1000 crore plus project involving a mall, convention centre and hotel. Also, Y Mall in Tripprayar is slated to launch very soon, opening a multitude of opportunities in our hometown.

This edition of Lulu happiness has imbibed the essence of fashion, trends and the beauty of motherhood. Flip to read our exclusive interviews with the ever charming Trisha and the most loved Tovino Thomas. Peek into Lulu happiness for a quick escape from the mundane life and drop in at Lulu for an amazing day.

We look forward to hosting you and giving you more reasons to celebrate and rejoice. Have a great Ramadan season.

Happy Reading! Happy shopping!

SWEAT IS SEXY!

Authentic sportswear brand Alcis is one of the latest entrants in Lulu Mall. Alcis has been chiselled with a belief that raced ahead to become a global youth lingo, belief in a breed which believes that “Sweat is Sexy.”

This brand offers fitness gear, which is an electrifying mix of technology and fashion, both for men and women. Its portfolio is spread across the categories like - Running, Training, Yoga, Soccer, Tennis.

Alcis highlights the fitness factor and bridges the gap between high-end and affordable without compromising on the quality of the basic amenities. It's a brand that largely uses autogenesis amenities from yarn to processing. Alcis is for youth, yet for all. Classic in its ways, tough for the trainer and accelerator for the runner.

EVERYTHING RIGHT ABOUT WROGN!

Breakaway youth fashion brand Wrogn is now at Lulu Mall! Its funky philosophy speaks through trendy design quirks. Each piece strays purposefully. From symmetry and conformity. From accepted norms and expected fads. Each one is a voice of dissent against the predictable. Buy it. Wear it. And, know that it is fashionable to speak your mind!

MAKE WAY FOR AWESOMIE

Through the many tough phases of her career – of being naïve and new to being judged and jostled, and then being cornered and questioned, Trisha has maintained absolute poise. She has stood her ground with utter dignity. She has held court and ruled over us like a true Queen – brave and strong. In a business owned and run by men, where a woman’s arrival and departure could be missed in the blink of an eye, Trisha has lasted for 15 years - and is going as strong as ever. She has not slid into nondescript supporting roles, but has in fact grown powerful enough to carry an entire story on her shoulders. We adore her unabashed laughter as she cruises through our photoshoot without a fuss, but we admire the assertive tone she has taken in handling the dips and peaks of her career. She has earned our love and our admiration.

From being a Grade A student, she went on to win the Miss Madras (1999) title and dazzled the nation with her killer smile at the subsequent Miss India beauty pageant. Had she won the crown and moved on into the Miss Universe league, we are pretty sure Bollywood would have swooped down and grabbed her. That Miss Beautiful Smile was all we needed to warmly welcome her into South Indian Cinema.

Forever Trisha will be haunted by that maiden television interview of hers where she pointedly states ‘cinema is just not my cup of tea’! The naive girl that she was, she spoke her mind with no inhibitions. Who knew that cup of tea would come back to bite her a few years later when she made her big screen debut! It was a popular night time talk show hosted by writer-comedian Yuhi Sethu. She was fresh out of her Miss Beautiful Smile title. And he asked her quite directly if she planned on getting into cinema. She did not hesitate to say no! The clip that is still doing the rounds online, showcases a young, impressionable Trisha, unaware of the blazing celluloid future ahead!

In many ways Trisha is still the same. She may try very hard to keep her thoughts to herself, but her sincere nature always gets the better of her. Even when she says, “No comments” her unbiased honest opinion is staring at you through her eyes. Like when she is faced with the “What’s going on between you and Rana?” question for the millionth time, she may say very curtly “Nothing” but the flicker of irritation in her eyes from being thoroughly fed-up with having to answer every third person about her off-screen friendships, is for all to see. That honesty, is what we thoroughly admire in her. It’s hard to be in an industry that’s all about putting on a good show and yet manage to maintain your true personality. What keeps her sane? “My friends. When I am seething over something they shut me off by laughing at me or not paying attention. But when I need them the most, they are always there. They keep me grounded and they keep me sheltered,” she reveals.

And shelter is something she has been in need of often. The actress has been the eye of many a storm, invariably landing there inadvertently. When you have star power such as hers, you need to watch what you say and do. People often forget that behind those melting smiles, is a young woman bubbling with energy and yearning for fun. She loves her close buddies. Loves hanging out with them. Loves enjoying a good party. So let her go a bit crazy and have a good time. Don’t we all wish we could just let our hair down and frisk out the stress? Why should Trisha be any different? Not that the prying media eye ever got to her! She’s always lived life on her own terms.

It takes a lot of inner strength and guts of titanium to make a decision that you know everyone is going to talk about for years to come. Yet she managed to do it and was careful not to give away too much.

When Trisha got engaged to a business big wig, it was a match that seemed perfect in many ways. But the biggest question that loomed in front of us all was that will she quit cinema like many of her predecessors. Many top actresses, over the years, have stepped down from their heroine stilettos the minute they were wed. Trisha did not seem like the kind to hang up her boots on account of marriage. But even before we could get our answer for that query, we had another question to ask: Why did she call off the wedding? The engagement had been a grand event - she invited only near and dear. So what went wrong? We will never know. But we definitely are in awe of her courage to say no the minute she knew she didn’t want to do it, rather than to suffer in silence.

Over the last few years, Trisha has been on a ‘take it easy’ mode. She seems absolutely at peace with herself and her career. she is in no rush to make movies with all the top heroes, but that’s probably because she has worked with all of them! She is not chasing after movies with big directors and definitely not getting all worked up over the number of new heroines debuting in cinema every month. They are not her competition - not even in her league. “I have never felt insecure. It may sound arrogant, but that’s the truth. I have always been confident that work will come, and it has. I don’t look at other actresses and feel jealous. I can’t do every movie out there. There will always be other actresses. But that just does not make me feel any less worthy,” she says in all confidence. And the way she is gliding through cinema, is proof enough that she is not perturbed by her contemporaries. She’ll do a movie now, then take a holiday, then look at a few scripts and take another holiday even! She is in a comfortable place now and she is enjoying that space.

The media is often guilty of labelling stars as No.1 or No.2. There is no actual means to measure who is on top and who is not, yet these tags exist. Trisha ruled the roost for the longest and even now, in spite of many successful heroines, signing on Trisha for a movie is considered a big achievement. Her name on the credits adds value to the production. “The tag per se is not real. But there is a hierarchy of sorts. There is the top level, then the next and the next, but there are no strict dividing lines. Whoever gives a blockbuster is immediately called No. 1. So more than that tag, what matters more is sustaining yourself at the top. That stability is what ultimately makes the difference,” she says. Spoken like a wise woman.

Off the screen Trisha is not just a grounded pal to her long-time friends; she is also an absolute supporter of several worthy causes. The actress has voiced her ideas in favour of PETA’s (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) several missions. Recently PETA has come to be seen as an organisation that values animals over people and culture, and that is a whole other topic for discussion. Trisha is a self-confessed ‘dog lady’. She loves canines probably more than she can ever love another human! If you are a dog-lover, you will probably understand and empathise with her feelings! Trisha was a big support in PETA’s endeavour to encourage the adoption of Indian dogs. For many dog owners, the breed of their pet is a source of pride. What many people don’t know is the inhuman nature of breeding these ‘good breed’ dogs. Trisha played an important part in promoting PETA’s ‘I love Indian Dogs’ campaign by speaking in favour of it and doing a photo-shoot for the same. A recent picture that she posted on Instagram with her ‘babies’ reinstates her love for these four-legged bundles of fluff and drool!

Of course when you support an organisation that is often at loggerheads with society, you are bound to get into trouble yourself! Early in 2017 when Tamil Nadu took centre stage for the Jallikattu issue, Trisha made the mistake of supporting PETA’s concern for the animals that were used in the sport. The actress did not directly oppose the game but raised a question regarding the safety of the animals. She was immediately subject to criticism and abusive language for being anti-cultural. Of course, her friends within the industry came to her support and the issue was subsequently dropped. This is one more classic example of Trisha being herself in spite of the omnipresent media eye!

Late last year Trisha was made UNICEF celebrity advocate. She is the first South Indian actor to be conferred with this honour. As a part of UNICEF, she now fosters education for all and speaks against child marriage and child abuse. Job Zachariah, Chief of UNICEF office—Tamil Nadu and Kerala, stated that he was sure that Trisha joining the cause would help them be heard by more people. The growing rate of crimes against women and children is appalling. In spite of several laws and campaigns, there is next to no change. Trisha believes that educating and empowering the girl child is the first step towards reduction in the rate of social evils. Eradication of child marriage will definitely reduce maternal and infant mortality rates. These are all pertinent issues in spite of it being the twenty first century. As a UNICEF advocate Trisha hopes to create an awareness of child rights and to support all Government endeavours to provide better health-care and nutrition for children and adolescents.

She may be a pretty face in an industry that thrives on looking good. But she surely knows how to be true to herself, how to hold her head high through bad times and what social causes to stand up for. We stand in awe of her awesomeness!

“INSECURE NEVER! THERE ARE ALWAYS GOING TO BE OTHER ACTRESSES. I HAVE NOT FELT INSECURE EVER AND THAT MAY SOUND A BIT ARROGANT. BUT YEAH, THAT’S JUST THE WAY IT IS. I DO FEEL A COMPETITIVE SPIRIT FROM TIME-TO- TIME.”

A SYMPHONY OF LOVE

She is loving, passionate, tender and yet strong. She has her dreams and works hard to pursue her passion. Her family is the centre of her world and even when her battles are hard, she chooses not to give up! Through the ages, we have seen inspiring moms or ‘superwomen’, who manage to juggle it all with ease! On Mother’s day, Lulu Happiness catches up with four moms who have not just managed their homes successfully but have charted out fruitful careers on their own terms!

PRIYA ABHISHEK JOSEPH

PRIYA ABHISHEK JOSEPH IS A KOCHI-BASED HAIR AND MAKE-UP ARTIST WHO HAS CRAFTED HER OWN SIGNATURE STYLE OF MAKE UP.

Priya believes that darker skin tones are just as beautiful as lighter ones. So, while doing make up, she tries to keep the skin tone looking natural and doesn't lighten it. Her work has become so popular that it literally keeps her, on her toes. "Giving up my previous corporate job after moving to Kochi was an easy choice, because I knew I had a different calling. Being creatively inclined, I was certain that I couldn't continue spending my time behind the computer all day," she recalls. She was 34, married and had a 4-year old, when she decided to take the plunge! Priya travelled to Mumbai, enrolled in make-up school and took courses to spruce up skills! It was during her training there that she found her true passion! "During the early days, I wondered whether I'd find any success as a makeup artist, but it was my family's support that kept me going. My mother in law and my husband have been my strong pillars of support. Without them this wouldn't have been possible," she says. Her family is her priority and she makes it a point to spend quality time with her sons whenever she's off work. "When it comes to bridal make up, you don't get second chances. So I do take a lot of time with each bride. Which is also why I don't pack my calendar with appointments all year round." Survival mantra? "I am a spiritual person and my faith helps me through the rough patches. Being a passionate person, I feel if you do every task with passion, eventually, it will pay back." Message to moms? "Don't try to be a supermom, accept your strengths and weaknesses and ask for help when you need it. It is ok even if you can't handle it all!"

HARSHA THACHERY IS THE FOUNDER OF THE POPULAR FOOD E-PLATFORM, MASALA BOX.

On maternity leave, sitting at home awaiting the arrival of her bundle of joy, Harsha began to explore healthy and preservative-free eating options. It was then that she realised that there were a slew of home chefs who prepared and served simple, yet healthy and tasty home-cooked meals. The idea took firm root in her mind and she began the painstaking process of putting together a panel of home chefs who could cater meals to interested customers through her e-platform called Masala Box. "It was very tough to manage home and a career during the initial years but thankfully I had my parents and in-laws staying close to us so I had a support system in place," she says.

Though Masala Box has kicked off well, how does she handle rainy days? "I do try and spend quality time with my daughter whenever possible but yes, there are rough patches when she reminds me of days when I have spent more time with her. But when I try to reason with her or give her extra perks, she usually gives in," she smiles.

Survival mantra? "There are times when I feel I have reached a breaking point. But my husband always tells me that even though my daughter might not understand now, eventually when she grows up she would feel proud of what I am doing and hopefully, she would admire my efforts. That is the one thought that keeps me going! Amidst all the mad rush, do you have 'Me' time?

"I am an early riser and I spend one hour every morning working out or swimming by myself – which is important because you are literally on the job 24X7. I also go on vacations with friends whenever possible. At the end of the day, being a mother is more important than anything else - work would eventually take its course but mothers can't be replaced."

ARUNIMA GUPTA

ARUNIMA GUPTA, IS A PASSIONATE DANCER AND THE FOUNDER OF THE RENOWNED DANCE STUDIO, 'THE FLOOR'.

Arunima began dancing from a very young age. She was working with a popular dance company in Kolkatta, when she got married. Since her husband's nature of work demanded a lot of travel, she had to give up her passion. Even after she had her son, without dance, she felt there was a vacuum and that's when she decided to start her own dance company called Aangik. Soon she moved to Kochi where she started The Floor, a dance studio to support Aangik. Her husband got transferred to Bengaluru yet again and she had to move. But this time, she realised that it was not working out. She had to follow her heart and she convinced her husband that she had to stay back in Kochi to pursue her passion. "We travel during weekends and go on vacations whenever we can make the time." Juggling it all? "I think my brain doesn't stop working since I feel I am working 24X7. But it definitely helps to be disciplined and I multitask a lot. There are bad days when it comes to managing 'The Floor' but dancing is my passion and that fixes my mood. I don't feel stressed when I dance." Survival mantra? "Everyone has a purpose in life and we have to discover it. My purpose is to dance." When asked about managing her son in between busy schedules, she says, "He is the sweetest kid. He has seen me dancing from a young age. When he was younger, I used to take him along with me wherever I go. He has been a constant companion to me and he has always adapted well. At work, I have the liberty to make choices and I make it a point to spend quality time with him. But if there are tight schedules, whenever I reason with him, he completely understands."

Message to moms? "Motherhood is about patience and time. Everyone doesn't get a chance to bring in a life, when you get a chance to be a mom, just enjoy it. Initially you need to be patient and spend time with your child. But eventually, if you have the will, you will shine, your passion will make you rise above the mundane. If you really want to pursue a career, your child will never be an obstacle. There is always a solution if you put your mind to it. Most importantly, be happy and content with yourself and try to be independent – physically, emotionally and financially."

PRIYANKA IDICULA IS THE CO-FOUNDER AND DIRECTOR OF BIRTHVILLAGE, A NATURAL BIRTHING CENTRE WHICH FOLLOWS THE MIDWIFERY MODEL OF CARE.

Birthvillage was born so that women would receive more options for birth in an environment that prides itself in being high touch and low tech. It has the unique distinction of being the only free standing birth centre in the country.

The centre deeply respects women's choices and stands for freedom where she has full right to exercise informed acceptance or refusal. Women also decide to birth in positions of their choice and get to be with their loved ones at this special moment. They are very rarely separated from their babies after birth. The centre preserves knowledge of normal birth and is deeply rooted in bringing back one of the oldest professions since mankind- midwifery.

"I work on call 24/7 - 365 days a year barring the time I am attending a conference or when I fall sick. It isn't easy when you get called out at midnight but my passion for my job is pretty intense that it ignites me well beyond my physical capacity. I live next to my parents who form my strong support network. My husband does have a lot of work from home options hence one parent is always around. I still do come home and try to fix dinner and help with my son's school work and often try to work from home on the days that he has important exams," explains Priyanka who juggles it all.

About being a working mom, she says, "I have a fantastic 12-year-old son who has been watching me work right from the time he was 2. He has pretty much figured out the physiology of birth right from the age of 4, knows all my text books, we watch birth videos together. He is super supportive but does get frustrated when I work 72-hour shifts but he also does understand the seriousness of it all. And from this year, to create an off call period I have committed on going for a family vacation and yes, it will be a first in 12 years!"

Handling bad days? "I am pretty much a go getter and have worked through tonnes of resistance to reach where I am. On my tough days I de-stress the best with simple curd rice, good music and talk to my son who always has some nuggets of wisdom." Message to moms? "Women work hard be it at homes or out of their homes. You are all rockstars in your own realms and you don't have to prove anything to anyone. We are born gifted to multitask. It is also your choice whether you choose to be a stay at home mom or one that chooses a career outside and they are both great choices that have great outcomes. Sometimes we women are our harshest critics and sometimes we need to get out of that self-inflicted guilt.

Lulu RETAIL AWARDS 2018

LULU FLOWER FEST AND VALENTINE'S DAY AT LULU MALL

The magnificent LuLu Flower Fest was a treat to the visual senses! Spread over 5 days, we had a lot of activities including the Lulu Little Prince/Princess contest which was well appreciated by the audience and the mall was in full bloom like a royal garden! Graced by the cast of Oru Adaar Love, the flower fest had a grand inaugural function too.

AAMI - MOVIE PROMOTIONS AT LULU MALL

The cast and crew of the film Aami were at Lulu Mall for promotions. Check out this snapshot from the event.

CHRISTMAS SHOP & WIN – Prize Distribution Ceremony

Actors Manju Warrier and Murali Gopi gave away prizes to the winners of the Christmas-New Year Shop & Win contest conducted by Lulu Mall. Customers who shopped for ₹ 2,500 on a single day took part in the 25 day lucky draw. Ammu Balachandran, a homemaker from Kochi won the mega bumper prize - the latest Ford EcoSport variant. James Manalel and Binoy, both from Kochi also won fully paid family trips to a Club Mahindra resort in Kerala for 3 days.

LULU FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATIONS

The retail revolution of Kerala – Lulu Mall Kochi celebrated its 5th anniversary with actor Kunchacko Boban. As part of the festivities, a grand, unique musical night was organised with popular music director Gopi Sundar, singers Kavya Ajit, Niranj Suresh, Afsal and crew.

Lulu India Director – Nishad M.A; Lulu Mall Business Head – Shibu Philips; Lulu Group Commercial Manager – Sadik Kassim; Project Director – Babu Varghese; Lulu Celebrate Director – Ameen Sett; Lulu Sparkys Director – Ambikapathy; Lulu Group Media Coordinator – N.B.Swaraj; Lulu Mall Manager – Shereef K.K; Lulu Group Architect – Prasoon K.V; Senior Manager, Operations – Sameer Verma; Senior Manager, Engineering – Prasad. In the past 5 years, Lulu Mall has achieved one of the highest footfalls and trading density for any mall in the country, creating innumerable milestones in Indian retail. 10 million customers and 15 million plus vehicles have entered the mall so far. At the recent foundation stone laying ceremony of Lulu Mall – Vizag, the Honorable Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh - Chandra Babu Naidu, had compared the daily footfalls of Lulu Mall to that of the Tirupati temple. Housing over 320 national and international brands across 215 outlets, there's a lot to look forward to at your favourite mall.

‘HEY JUDE’ MOVIE PROMOTIONS
 Nivin Pauly and Trisha promoted their movie ‘Hey Jude’ at Lulu Mall.

CHRISTMAS@ LULU

Every year Lulu Mall hosts the city’s most popular & talked about Christmas celebration with amazing themed décor, world class performances, celebrity visits and customer incentive programme. The unique and vibrant Christmas decor added charm to the ambience and the mall was buzzing with shop and win contests, international performers, workshops, experience zones and much more. The LuLu Christmas Carol Contest, held at LuLu Mall on 21st December was a cheerful event filled with the spirit of Christmas which also saw a captivating performance by an illusionist. The Christmas Inauguration was done by Actor Jaysurya and the Aadu 2 movie team with complete merry making and LED hula hop performances, unicyclist and clown performance. The New Year began with fireworks at Lulu Mall. There was an exciting street performance that added to the fun.

SUMMER CAMP 2018

This year, the camp was aimed at creating an enjoyable experience for children as they explored individual creativity, build self-confidence, learn about physical wellbeing, make friends and acquire new skills.

Divided into 4 batches of 40 kids each, the 5 day camp from April 2nd to April 20th, covered exciting activities that introduced children to improving the state of the environment through recycling and water conservation. Other fun activities included theatre, science experiments, creative painting, yoga, dancing, cooking, puppet show, visit to Sparkys and much more. The last day of the camp was made memorable with the summer camp graduation ceremony along with activities for kids.

PETICHOR – WATER CONSERVATION AWARENESS

The Kochi Biennale Foundation and Lulu Mall hosted a video exhibition by artist Vipin Dhanurdharan highlighting the importance of conserving water. The exhibition was officially inaugurated on the World Water day by Shibu Philips – Business Head, Lulu Mall and Sudhesh Nair – Lulu Hypermarket General Manager in the presence of the artist and Manju Sara Rajan of the Kochi Biennale Foundation. 'Petrichor', meaning the smell that follows the first rain, is a video work that was curated by co-founder of the Kochi Biennale Foundation - Riyas Komu. The attempt by Vipin Dhanurdharan is a video archive of a two month long performance act.

The association between the Lulu Group and the Kochi Biennale Foundation is entering its 6th year and through this exhibit which was open every day till 8th April, both parties brought to light the grave water crisis situation affecting the world right now.

Lulu Mall has adopted various measures to minimize water wastage. The entire waste water generated from Lulu Mall is being recycled and is used for HVAC, flushing and gardening. If balance waste water is available, earth recharging is executed in the premises through soak pits. The mall has also been actively harvesting rain water.

TAKING ON THE REIGNS

WHEN LOOKING BACK, HOW DO YOU THINK YOUR JOURNEY AS AN ACTOR HAS TAKEN SHAPE?

Like any new actor in the industry, it was a step by step climb for me too. For a start, I just wanted a role in good Cinema, after which I started looking for a break – a chance to perform. Then came the yearning for a lead role, a search for a director and team who were willing to trust me with the responsibility. The journey was indeed a tough one especially because it was a tremendous struggle and a lone one at that. But I am happy that through it all, I have survived and reached where I am today. I know hits are not permanent and thankfully, I always try to focus on critical acclaim and performance related roles. More than the profits in production, I always hope and pray that there are no losses, because at the end of the day, people cast you in the lead because they trust you. I am indebted to people who have had the faith in me and have stood by me and most importantly, I owe it to the audience who have accepted me.

WITHOUT A BACKGROUND IN CINEMA, IT IS TOUGH TO SURVIVE IN THE FILM INDUSTRY. WHAT PROMPTED YOU TO TAKE THE LEAP?

I have always had a love for cinema. When we were kids, not a single weekend passed when we didn't watch movies. I used to love visiting shooting locations, to watch stars perform and thoroughly enjoyed reading about Cinema. Even after I got hired, during my break, I used to always Google and do research on the theory behind cinema! I was inspired by real life stories of stars like Mark Wahlberg, Sylvester Stallone and Arnold Schwarzenegger who proved that you could

It has definitely not been all sunshine and smooth sailing for this young star. With no roots in the industry, his journey has had to brace its fair share of rough weather. But through it all, the burning fire within him has been his strong passion for Cinema! His versatile acting skills have always won him much critical acclaim. With back to back hits, this handsome 'Greek God of Mollywood' stands poised to take on his reigns! RITZ is in conversation with the hot Macho man, Tovino Thomas, who just made his debut in Tamil Cinema!

Interview:

RIYA SONNY DATSON

succeed through sheer hard work and dedication. I knew at the bottom of my heart that Cinema was my passion and that I couldn't survive doing a job that I didn't enjoy.

HOW DID YOU PREPARE YOURSELF TO FOLLOW YOUR PASSION?

I should say, there were two main life changing events for me. The first was when I was a 12 year old. I was facing some health issues and was admitted at CMC Vellore for a period of 4 months and it felt like a period of self-introspection. I had been an introvert since childhood and that was the time when I felt I needed to change, I was determined to push myself out of my shell. Amazingly, once I got back to school, everyone felt I had indeed changed. It was literally a character transformation. I soon became the assistant school leader, a sports champion and the school leader consecutively for the next three years. I won subtitles at the Mr. Thrissur competition and later became Mr. University while at college.

The next life changing event was when I got hired right after college. I was stuck in a cubicle all by myself again and I had enough time to think about my future. I knew I had to at least try following my dream. I decided to give it a shot and once I got a role in a film, I gathered courage to resign and follow my passion. Unfortunately, that role didn't work out and I was really hurt and disappointed then but looking back now, I feel it was a blessing in disguise.

HOW DOES IT FEEL TO BE CALLED THE 'GREEK GOD OF MOLLYWOOD' OR 'THE MOST DESIRABLE MAN'?

It definitely feels good and I am happy when someone compliments me but I am aware of my strengths and weaknesses and so I don't give it too much thought.

HOW HAS LIFE CHANGED WITH THE CELEBRITY STATUS?

As far as my friends and family are considered, I am no celebrity. The Tovino I know has never changed. I think it is the way you are perceived that changes. I have always felt that people around me have changed. For example, now, I don't think I have the freedom to crack the same joke in the same manner as I did when I first started out. I would be criticised and would come under the scanner. But I still enjoy doing all the things that I used to do. My friends still treat me the same way except that, now they have the added excitement to watch the first day first show of my new releases. I still go cycling, hang around with my friends, visit their homes and grab a snack from their kitchen. There are changes in terms of privacy but I always knew it was a part of the game!

DO YOU GET TO SPEND TIME WITH YOUR FAMILY AMIDST YOUR BUSY SCHEDULES?

I admit that there has to be a lot of extra effort. But whenever possible, I try to take them to my shooting location or try to spend as much time as possible with them when I am not doing films. They also understand my pressures and know that I will make it up to them. The fact is Cinema will not wait for anyone and you have to make yourself available when it is ready. I am a person who possibly because both of us are from Thrissur. So I was very comfortable working with her, Kamal Sir and the entire crew.

THE SONGS AND TRAILERS OF YOUR LATEST FLICK, 'THEEVANDI' ARE ALL OVER SOCIAL MEDIA. ALTHOUGH YOU ARE PORTRAYING A CHAIN SMOKER, YOU LOOK REFRESHINGLY YOUNG IN THE MOVIE THAT IS SET IN A RURAL BACKDROP... TELL US ABOUT IT.

In Theevandi, I had to portray a young man who is from a village, so I had to work really hard to lose weight and bring in the 'Naadan' feel. As the smoking scenes had to be captured from different angles and over different shots, I have no clue how many cigarettes I smoked for the shoot but I had to do it since it was required as a part of the film. I went for health check-up post the shoot, and thankfully, it doesn't seem to have had much effect. The story is set in a rural backdrop and has many elements like romance, comedy and politics. The director of the movie, Fellini, is a very good friend of mine and I have known him for a very long time. So we were like a bunch of friends having a lot of fun while working on the movie. I am sure you would understand it when you watch the movie.

HOW DOES IT FEEL TO BE WORKING IN KOLLYWOOD?

It is great to be working in a new industry. I always try to make new friends and create a comfort zone where ever I go. Maybe the canvas and characters I portray maybe different but the way I work with my team remains the same.

UPCOMING PROJECTS...

'Maradona' is ready for release soon. Apart from that, we have resumed shoot for Maari 2 and am also shooting for Director Madhupal's 'Oru Kuprasidha Payyan'. There is another film in the pipeline but it hasn't been officially announced yet.

YOUR LEARNINGS FROM CINEMA...

My biggest learning would be how to act! Though, through the years, I have learnt and grown a lot as an actor, I still feel I am just a student of Cinema and I have a long way to go!

respects my work and my team and I don't like to be the reason for any delays. I am not comfortable with the idea of people waiting for me.

YOUR IDEA OF RELAXATION?

My idea of relaxation would be to laze around, eating yummy home cooked food, reading a good book and sipping good coffee on a rainy day. I enjoy solitude and taking a break at home.

AMIDST ALL THE CONTROVERSY ABOUT MISOGYNY AND PATRIARCHY IN MOVIES, YOU ARE ONE OF THE FEW ACTORS WHO HAVE SUCCESSFULLY PORTRAYED STRONG CHARACTERS IN WOMEN CENTRIC FILMS LIKE AAMI OR GODHA. IS THAT INTENTIONAL?

I always focus on good scripts and of course the relevance of my role in the movie. If there is scope for performance, I would be happy to take it up. I have important women in my life too like my mother, sister, wife and daughter and I respect men and women equally. So the fact that a movie is 'woman centric' is irrelevant to me.

HOW WAS THE EXPERIENCE WORKING WITH MANJU WARRIER IN AAMI?

I have known her for quite some time now. We had a good rapport from the beginning,

She's like the pretty girl next door who is always cheerful and ready with a smile! Her career in Mollywood started with 'Kalikaalam' and she went on to do many memorable roles in movies like 'Jawan Of Vellimala', 'North 24 Kaatham', 'AnnMariya Kalippilanu' and now 'Vishwasapoorvam Mansoor'. It has not been a cake walk for this young actress who learnt the ropes the hard way! RITZ gets into a candid conversation with the gorgeous actress, Leona Lishoy as she talks of her movies, interests, dreams and marriage!

Did you have any inhibitions doing the role of a mom in Ann Mariya Kalippilanu?

I just wanted to do good characters and I never really had any insecurities doing the role. When Sunny Wayne casually mentioned about the role, I instantly liked it and wanted to do it. At first, even the director had his doubts for he felt that I looked too young. And for a moment, I wasn't sure too but after trying out a couple of scenes, the director seemed happy with my performance and I felt comfortable. Ann Mariya Kalippilanu had a young crew and I totally enjoyed working with the team. It was indeed a good break for me!

How has your dad, Lishoy, influenced your career?

Well, my dad was never really a typical 'Cinema' guy as one would expect. His friends were mostly within his theatre group and when it came to the film industry, he always had very professional ties. During my childhood, I don't remember having his friends coming home for movie discussions or my going to a shooting location. In fact, he never expected me to enter the film field at all. It just happened that I was offered a good role and we decided to give it a shot. And fortunately for me, it clicked!

What are your criteria for choosing roles?

I have come to realise that there should be at least two strong points when you choose a project. Apart from the script and the director, the production banner is equally important. There is no point in jumping at a good script if the production house doesn't have the capacity to release the movie. Your work has to reach the audience!

Dream Role?

Dream role would be to do a dance based movie where I get to play the role of a Bharatnatyam dancer!

Tell us about your upcoming projects.

'Maradona' is ready for release, the film has Tovino Thomas doing the lead role. Apart from that, we are wrapping up with 'Kidu'. I will be joining Kunchacko Boban's next flick that is being directed by Soumya Sadanandan.

HAPPINESS DOUBLED!

Lulu mall wins two prestigious awards

It's a moment of great pride for us. But even more, a symbol of your trust. For the 5th consecutive year, Lulu Mall has won the ISCA Shopping Centre of The Year South (Non-metro) and Shopping Mall of the Year at Indian Retail Awards for the 4th consecutive year. We thank you for believing in us and being part of our journey. We promise to give you more reasons to celebrate in the days to come.

WOMEN'S DAY OUT

with LULU LOYALTY

LIZY

"I really enjoy shopping at Lulu Mall as it has a wonderful ambience and it is very convenient to shop as we have all the major brands under one roof. Lulu is the only mall in Kochi that offers so many branded products. I am a Lulu Loyalty member too and I have won many gifts as a part of the program. My husband and granddaughter, Rachel are also big fans of Lulu. If I need to get anything done by her, all I need to do is promise a trip to Lulu!"

VALSA

“Whenever my friends and relatives come home, we always make a visit to Lulu Mall. It’s a great place to shop and we enjoy the experience. I visit the mall every Wednesday, especially since they have the Women’s Wednesday program and I am a member of the Lulu loyalty program. I live close to Lulu and I think this is the most convenient place to shop!”

MABLE

“When we were in Muscat a couple of years ago, we always shopped at Lulu. Once we returned to Kochi, it was a pleasant surprise to know Lulu Mall is here too. We like everything about Lulu – it has entertainment, food court, movies, shopping, children’s play area - all under one roof! I do most of my shopping from Lulu and my friends and I often prefer to spend our day there. The Lulu loyalty program is a wonderful initiative and it gives us the incentive to shop at our favourite brands!”

I love Leh-Ladakh. It almost feels like you are in heaven. The clouds literally touch the earth. Everything there is amazing - the Tibetan culture, monasteries and scarce population. It's a great escape from the noisy hustle and bustle of citylife. I also love Amsterdam for its nightlife and festivities. I also love the beautiful canals and water routes which are truly unique.

Anitha Kholay,

Award-winning Car Rallyist

London & Scotland - these two cities will always be at the top of my travel list...I am in awe of the unparalleled charm of these two cities and each time I go there, I find enough ways to be lost in something that creates that magic! London is known for its architecture and endless tourist attractions... also I can't get enough of the ways to splurge in London. I am in love with Scotland's mysterious and scenic nature and the gothic beauty of this place is just undeniable and spectacular.

Sayanora Philip, *Singer

I love traveling and I have truly enjoyed my trips to Paris, Venice, Maldives and South Africa to name a few favourite destinations. In India, I love holidaying in the beautiful valley of Manali and Udaipur, the 'Venice of the East'.

Veena Jain,

Mrs India Globe Classic

I went to Italy this month. Although I've been to Italy many times and it's my favourite place in the whole world, this time I visited a small countryside in Italy called Casteggio which is a one-hour drive from Milan. I stayed in a beautiful property called Prime Altare wine resort in Casteggio that is known for wine cultivation. Interestingly, they also grow this special grass to feed the cows to make Parmesan cheese which is delicious and fresh. I even visited the chocolate factory there and loved it.

Soumya Sadanandan,

Film director

My most memorable holiday destination would have to be Wayanad. Nature in her purest form and in all her glory can be witnessed in the enchanting hills of Wayanad.

Parvati Nair,

Actor and model

Having grown up in cities and being an NRI and having travelled to many countries, nature and water are what excite me the most. While most vacations have been with family there was one where I was by myself. I was shooting in the backwaters of Alleppey in Kerala and I liked it so much that I extended my stay as I wanted to spend more time by myself at the houseboat. I wanted to enjoy the fresh sea food and also the natural beauty of Kerala.

It's been one of my most memorable trips.

Bhaavna Arora, Author

Out of the seven continents in the world, I've travelled to at least one country in each and mostly solo. One place that I can never take out of my head and would want to go again and again is Lucerne in Switzerland that sits at open Lake Lucerne surrounded by snow-capped mountains. If you like hiking, Mount Pilatus and Rigi are a must. Take a cruise on Lake Lucerne. Lion monument is a major tourist attraction. And don't forget to get your own cow bell!

Rima Kallingal, Actor

I am a huge fan of 'Game of Thrones' and so, Malta tops my list of 'Places to Visit'. One of my most memorable holidays would be the trip to Italy. I absolutely enjoyed the Tuscany Wine trail and I remember the beautiful medieval towns there - Siena and San Miniato. They were picturesque, quiet and absolutely charming.

Roopamouli Mysore,

Mrs Global International

Moscow the alpha global city of Russia is my favourite travel destination on two counts - one it earmarked my journey at the Mrs Global International pageant where I won the crown in the classic category and the second, it being the glorious and the greenest capital of the world seeped in history, marvellous architecture and culture, was in sync with my ideologies. Peterhof in St Petersburg is another of my favourite. The lavish luxury of the summer palace, the magical gardens, the ornate fountains, the monarch's wealth and taste are beautifully seen in every nook and corner. A glorious place to travel and experience indeed.

“Sweat is Sexy”

One of the most recent entrants into Lulu Mall, Alcis is an authentic sportswear brand. Alcis was born to celebrate uniqueness and authenticity when it comes to performance and sports. The brand is loyal to newness and modernity, and is for those who believe in celebrating fitness and sports. Alcis has been chiseled with a belief that raced ahead to become a global youth lingo, belief in a breed which believes that “Sweat is Sexy”.

Alcis offers fitness gear, which is an electrifying mix of technology and fashion, both for Men and Women. The portfolio spread across the categories like - Running, Training, Yoga, Soccer and Tennis.

Alcis highlights the fitness factor and bridges the gap between high-end and affordable without compromising with the quality of the basic amenities. It's a brand that largely uses autogenesis amenities from yarn to processing. Alcis is for the youth, yet for all. Classic in its ways, tough for the trainer and accelerator for the runner.
